

Where your $ goes

$1500

Can help us fund groundbreaking research into the causes of cancer and into new and improved treatments. Significant advances have been achieved through research; the cancer mortality rate has decreased by almost 14 per cent over the last 10 years*.

*13.6 per cent from 1996-2006 (Australian Institute of Health and Welfare)

$1000

Can assist us to fund clinical trials, which test new and better ways to prevent, diagnose and treat cancer. Clinical trials ensure cancer patients have access to promising new treatments.

$500

Can allow a research team to purchase tissue samples for use in investigating the causes of cancer, as well as potential treatment options.

$100

Can help us to provide resources to health professionals to assist them in adopting proven methods in treating and caring for their patients.

$50

Can help us train a staff member for the Cancer Council Helpline (13 11 20). The Helpline is a confidential telephone support service accessible to all Australians for the cost of a local call. Specially trained staff can answer questions about all aspects of cancer, including prevention, early detection and treatment.

$25

Can help us to provide a newly diagnosed cancer patient with support and information resources.
